Live Demo session

Manjiri Manjrekar, our alumni presented a beautiful piece of art using oil pastel colours the theme for which was Rainy Day. Talking about her art the technique used was unlike blending technique and even non-artists could give it a try. Manjiri started with drawing rough outlines and slowly moved to do detailing with different shades like red for shadows, green for trees and so on. She later on used graphite pencil for more adding more depth to drawing and white gel pen for extra detailing. To speed up the drawing process she had 8 pre-ready stages of her drawing by which she showed how to draw step by step.

she also answered the few questions raised by audience in comment section, like different brand other than Camlin can we be used for oil-pastel drawing, difference between Graphite and Charcoal pencils, whether oil pastel colours can be used in combination with other types of colours. Manjiri also talked about her source of inspiration, and created a captivating drawing in very short span of time, it was really an interactive session.

Audience gave positive remarks for the event in the comments section and appreciated her drawing. Ishita then concluded the event by thanking the artist and the audience.
